Cutting Edge Cyber Security Services Launched For Amicus ITS Customers

Hampshire technology solutions company, Amicus ITS, has announced the launch of two cutting edge cyber security services, Foxcatcher™ and Amicus Viper™.

Commenting on the cyber security solutions, JP Norman, Amicus ITS' Director of Technology, Security & Governance advised: "The combination of 'Foxcatcher™' and 'Amicus Viper™' positions our cyber security offerings at the very forefront of UK market for information data security. Whether you are in healthcare, a regulated industry, corporate, or even an SME - these services will provide the data body armour that business cannot afford to be without."

Foxcatcher™ provides 360 degree preparedness against cyber threat. The service has four key elements. The first, looks at knowledge which is directed at C-Level execs and directors to ensure from boardroom down, staff are armed with the core information needed to prioritise, understand and share cyber education. Secondly a major consultative review of an organisation's security policies and procedures to verify they are fit for purpose and practised. Thirdly, penetration testing of the whole environment to identify vulnerabilities. And finally, end point security to protect all devices and infrastructure across the workforce. Sadly, these days, it's not a matter of 'if', but 'when' a company will get hacked in some way, shape or form. Foxcatcher™ reduces any impact substantially".

Amicus Viper™ gives companies leading edge cyber security technology which is recognised by the intelligence services here and abroad. Amicus ITS is currently one of only two Managed Service Providers enabled to offer this to UK organisations. Amicus Viper™ uses the very latest software to provide actionable threat intelligence on a sophisticated but easily digestible platform and gives you intelligence in advance from areas such as the Dark Web. Our service consists of three broad modules: 'Amicus Brand Abuse' which scours social networks and internet repositories, 'Amicus Hactivism' which collects information from IPs, domains and intelligence from your industry sector, and 'Amicus Data Leakage' which hunts vulnerabilities for sensitive documents and data leakage at risk in the public domain".

MD Steve Jackson added: "The threats from cyber are relentless. The impact to business from loss of trust from customers and heavy financial fallout costs can be immense. Our new cyber solutions that give advance notice and help with data security dynamically are a must for
