(L) Director of Technology, Security & Governance JP Norman alongside Marketing Manager and G10 Project Manager Lindsay Burden, Sales Director Les Keen and Senior Sales Account Manager Ben Davis (R)

2nd July 2018

Crown Commercial Supplier and leading regional IT Managed Service Provider, Amicus ITS, has scored a notable success with the announcement that the Company has had a record total of 17 cloud technology services accepted onto the UK Government's G-Cloud framework.

This framework, run by the Government's Crown Commercial Service, provides a central, transparent and pre-compliant portal for public sector and healthcare organisations across England and Wales to procure wide ranging technology solutions, in confidence, using trusted partners - and saving money for the taxpayer. The service goes live today.

Sales Director Les Keen commented: "Amicus ITS has a host of public sector and NHS customers throughout England so we know the pressures they face. Our experienced Bid Team in Sales & Marketing, work across a variety of IT frameworks. The G-Cloud 10 framework is a perfect example of the private sector bringing best-in-market technology and support to work in partnership with the public sector to bring about efficiencies and positive change to a cash-strapped sector. With Brexit fast approaching, there has never been a more important time for public sector organisations to have trusted routes to procurement offering transparency and confidentiality. Many bodies are grappling with legacy IT infrastructures and trying to keep pace with the day-to-day tasks and 'keeping the lights on' and their data secure. They are time short and often in need of outside expert help to create the right solutions. Our new managed cloud service offerings include a raft of security services and some are run in conjunction with key specialist technology partners. Our services can be selected at will and have the potential to release inhouse IT teams to focus on project work, knowing their IT is in safe hands with us.
