Major healthcare deal announced by leading Managed Services Firm

Amicus ITS has announced a major NHS deal worth £250,000. The deal, secured against stiff competition, extends the firm's previous contract with the North East London NHS Foundation Trust (NELFT) to provide 24x365 IT support services. Describing the deal, MD Steve Jackson said: "Healthcare has been the backbone to this company's success for over 20 years and we currently support around 16 million patients across the UK with the infrastructure and telephony support for the NHS' 111 Out of Hours services."

"I am absolutely delighted with this new hospital contract for NELFT, especially as it is a long-term contract renewal. Deals like these help underpin job security for staff, many of whom come from the local area, and this news comes off the back of strong year end results for the company. The contract is no mean feat, as NELFT has tripled in size from 2,500 users to 7,500 users. They needed an IT support partner which could scale up with them as they have grown and continue to deliver efficiencies and expert consultancy."

"I am extremely proud of our achievements. These wins help make us not only regional, but national heavyweights in the IT industry and underpins our true expertise in the healthcare sector. Added to this, two of our staff were crowned UK IT Awards Finalists 2014 last month in two categories: Service Desk Support and Security Professional of the Year. This is a great way to round off our success in 2014 when Amicus ITS rose to be ranked No.1 IT MSP in the UK and EMEA at the start of the year."

We wish all our clients a very Happy Christmas and a peaceful New Year".
