

Totton Escalation Manager Danny Courtney Wins Spooky Satsuma Competition!

Danny Courtney (centre) with ERIKS staff who judged the event

Friday 30th October 2015

Amicus ITS Escalation Manager Danny Courtney proved that technical people can be artistic too, as he scooped the first prize of a crate of beer, after creating a spooky bat scene, to win over the judges from neighbouring business Eriks in the Trinity Court Business Park today.

Danny had to fight off keen competition from 21 other entries by staff and families. The full results were:

- 1st place Danny Courtney
- Highly commended Lindsay Burden
- 3rd place Andrea van Toor

Director of Managed Services, Pete Storrar who co-presented the award said, "It's a good bit of fun ahead of the Halloween weekend and certainly got everyone's spirits up! We also managed to get our IT Service Desk team and their colleagues at Volvo UK headquarters to take part in today's fun as well. Their worthy winner in Maidenhead was Tom Churchill-Coleman, who was presented with his prize of a bottle of bubbly by MD of Volvo Cars UK, Nick Connor.

Danny's winning bat entry

Tom Churchill-Coleman and Nick Connor

